

Figure 1. Carya: hickory nuts with husks attached and removed ($\times 1$). Size and shape of the nuts may vary greatly within each species and may differ from the examples shown here (Bonner and Maisenhelder 1974a).